THE

DUBLIN REVIEW.

98

THIRD SERIES.

VOL. XV.

JANUARY—APRIL.

MDCCCLXXXVI.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,
SEP 17 1933

LONDON: BURNS & OATES.
DUBLIN: M. H. GILL & SON.
NEW YORK: CATHOLIC PUBLICATION SOCIETY CO.
9, BARCLAY STREET.

1886.

CONTENTS.

PAGE

ART. I.—PROPORTIONATE REPRESENTATION 1

A typical instance of Proportionate Representation—Where the minority is unrepresented, it is not the minority chiefly, but the nation which most suffers wrong—A nation governed by wisdom is governed by public opinion rightly formed: how genuine public opinion is formed—A nation considered in the light of an idea: a majority not necessarily National Representation—Qualifications for the exercise of political power—The best men of either side testify to Proportionate Representation—Its relation to National progress: conditions of electoral changes—A glance at Ireland—Mr. Hare's book.

ART. II.—OLIER AND DUPANLOUP 22

The meaning of the Christian priesthood: its unique dignity—Importance of a true vocation and of proper training for young candidates—M. Olier devoted to the education of priests; with what great success—Spirit of S. Sulpice—Mgr. Dupanloup as an illustrious disciple of S. Sulpice—His interior life—His zealous activity.

ART. III.—THE NERVES AND OVER-PRESSURE 40

Comparatively slow transit of nerve power—Office and nature of the nerve fibres—Office of the nerve cells—Effects of excessive use of alcohol on nervous system—Is there an over-pressure in education injurious to nerves and health of children?—Over-pressure and its effects in the universities and higher education—Mr. Ruskin on true education—A plan of healthy education.

ART. IV.—THE CHURCH AND LIBERALISM 58

In the region of pure politics great latitude allowed to Catholics: the line seems to be drawn at Liberalism—That this is the Church's view proved from pronouncements of the Holy See—Gregory XVI. and Lamennais—

PAGE

The Quanta Cura and Syllabus of Pius IX.—How far the present Pope's recent Encyclical bears on the subject of Liberalism.

ART. V.—THE STORY OF COWDRAY 69

Mrs. Roundell's History of Cowdray—The story of the family and its Church possessions: Battle Abbey and Easebourne Priory: the Curse of Cowdray—Varying fortunes of the Brownes, Lords Montague: A Jesuit laybrother: the "Wicked Lord Montague"—The seventh Viscount apostatizes: the Curse falls—Present representatives of the family: those of the Brownes of Easebourne are of the ancient faith.

ART. VI.—RELIGION IN THE NORTH 91

Striking difference between religious condition of northern counties in Catholic times and now—Westmoreland: efforts to "evangelize the dales": hard, unimpressionable nature of the natives—Cumberland: St. Bega has migrated—Contrast between the old and the present St. Bees: how the balance stands—The Benedictine missions and the Irish in West Cumberland—Failure of our missionary efforts among the English people no argument for the Ritualist—The Anglican position is changed since Cardinal Newman's conversion.

ART. VII.—THE SLAV STATES OF THE BALKANS . . . 102

Historical origin of the Balkan States—The three Bulgarian kingdoms—Serbia, Bosnia, and the other States—Ottoman servitude and revived nationality of Slavs: George Petrovich and Obrenovich — Serbian independence—Russia incites and helps to freedom of Bulgaria—Bosnia and her religious history—The Bogomils—Catholicity in Bosnia identified with the Franciscan Friars—The settlement of the Bosnian religious difficulty by Austria—General success of Austrian rule: the agrarian question—Similar climate, geographical conformations and productions of Slav States—Democracy of Serbians: their customs: deep national feeling—Contrast with Bulgaria: superstitions: brigands—Impatience of Muscovite influence.

ART. VIII.—CATHOLIC UNION AND CATHOLIC PARTIES . . 133

The interest of the new Encyclical—Analysis of the text—A Catholic party, what, and how far possible—France—Italy—England.

PAGE

LETTERS OF POPE LEO XIII. 153

1. Encyclical on the Constitution of Christian States.
2. To the Bishops of England.

SCIENCE NOTICES 171

The Birth-rate in France—The Cholera—Pasteur and Hydrophobia—"Telpherage"—Weather Cycles.

NOTES OF TRAVEL AND EXPLORATION 174

Journey in Somali Land—Commercial Policy in the East—Trade of Russian Turkestan—Kafiristan—New French Ports in East Africa.

NOTES ON NOVELS 181

Rainbow Gold—Karma—White Heather—Andromeda—A Strange Voyage—Slings and Arrows—Adrian Vidal—Maruja—The Master of the Mine—Babylon—Green Pleasure and Grey Grief—Mrs. Dymond.

NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS . . . 190

Russia and Mount Athos—Antiquity of Coral Formations—Consecration of Holy Oils—German Bibles before Luther—The Pope and the Massacre of St. Bartholomew—Gregory the Great's Sacramentarium—Was Nero a Persecutor?—Has Tacitus been Falsified?—St. Bernard and the Second Crusade.

NOTICES OF BOOKS 200

Herbert Spencer's Ecclesiastical Institutions—Regestum Clementis Quinti—Jungmann's Dissertations on Church History—Count Murphy's Chair of Peter—The Tournay English Breviary Proprium—The Tournay Biblia Sacra—Gospel of S. Matthew—Barry O'Brien's Fifty Years of Concession to Ireland—Bishop Ricard's Aletheia—Eadmer's Vita S. Anselmi—Father J. A. O'Shea's Life of Luke Wadding—The Life of a Prig—Miss A. Stewart's Mary Queen of Scots—Dr. B. Sepp's Rücklass der S-königin Maria Stuart—Miss A. M. Clerke's History of Astronomy—M. Jametel's La Chine Inconnue—Eugène Delacroix—Cassell's Dictionary of English History—Delachenal's Avocats de Paris—M. F. Egan's Life Around Us—M. C. Hime's Schoolmaster's

PAGE

Retrospect—Dick Doyle's Journal in 1840—T. Hodgkin's Italy and her Invaders—M. A. Leroy-Beaulieu's Catholiques Liberaux—J. F. Hodgett's Champion of Odin—H. R. Haggard's King Solomon's Mines—Prof. Volkmann's Dreams of a French Fireside—Little Dick's Christmas Carols—Christmas Revels—The Wanderer—L. Tolstoi's What I Believe—Lady Herbert's True Wayside Tales—Rev. E. Miller's Textual Criticism—Miss O'Meara's Queen by Right Divine—Catholic Directory, and Almanacs.

BOOKS OF DEVOTION AND SPIRITUAL READING . . . 239

LIST OF BOOKS RECEIVED 252

RECORD OF ROMAN DOCUMENTS (at end).

CONTENTS.

PAGE

ART. I.—THE DECAY OF THE BRITISH CONSTITUTION . . 243

Examination of Sir Henry Maine's contention that there is a grave defect in the British Constitution, in its liability to hasty change—His suggested remedy, to distinguish between the procedure in ordinary and constitutional legislation: the example of the United States—Is Sir Henry Maine much less anti-clerical than Mr. John Morley?—The infidel and the innocent theory of democracy—Sir Henry Maine seems not to know the religious theory of the State, and his book to be consequently misleading—Is the British Constitution decaying? Not from loss of power, but from acceptance of false principles in place of true—Will these principles gain ascendency?—Value of Burke's exposition of true principles—Not forms of government, but the spirit and reality, the main thing: reasons for confidence in the future.

ART. II.—THE ARCHDUCHESS ISABEL 260

Her childhood—The letters, loving, fatherly, playful, of Philip II. to his daughters—Why Philip kept Isabel so long unmarried—Her marriage to Albert: character of her husband—Their "joyous entry" into Brussels—Ruined condition of the country they had come to rule: Isabel's common sense: her efforts to secure peace abroad—Their home government—Her husband dying, she reigns alone: benefit of her reign to Belgium.

ART. III.—PROFESSOR JOWETT'S "POLITICS OF ARISTOTLE" . 280

The "Politics" most closely akin to modern thought—Professor Jowett's Introduction—Criticism of particular passages—Estimate of the "scholarship" of this edition.

ART. IV.—THE PATRIARCH OF THE "ACTIVE ORDERS" . . 290

Activity the characteristic of our time: the first "Active Order" founded three hundred years ago—Life of Blessed Peter Fourier—Establishes the first "active" educational Order of women—Difficulties as to conventual Enclosure—Blessed Peter Fourier a model Canon Regular—A sketch of the history of that Order: its spirit; illustrious members; the return of the Canons to England—Peter's holiness, miracles, beatification, expected canonization.

PAGE

ART. V.—BURMA AND THE FARTHER EAST 309

Burma, a land of incongruities—Encroachments of France and England—Extent of Burma; character of the land; language; devotion and superstitions of people; monks and nuns—Domestic life; cremation; Carnival and Lent—History—Royal despotism; government; pomp and glitter of Court ceremonial—Progress of the lower province under British rule—Products and mineral riches—Commercial importance of the Shan States—The future of this part of Asia must eventually belong to China.

ART. VI.—THE LETTERS OF THE POPES 340

Sketch of life of Cardinal Pitra—His discovery of the metrical laws of Greek Church Hymnology—The present volume: its interesting historical introduction of 300 pages on the Letters of the Popes—The Vatican Archives: their history and state; printed collections—Their editors: a sketch of Dom Coustant—Advantages to the Church of studying and printing Papal documents; defence of Pope Vigilius an example—References in the present volume to English affairs.

ART. VII.—METHODS OF HISTORICAL INQUIRY 359

Four representative views as to the philosophy of history briefly stated: that of Carlyle, Comte, Buckle and Walter Bagehot—Mr. Bagehot's account of the origin of nations—The Evolution theory of the development of the human spirit repudiated—The unity of history—Importance of chronology and geography.

ART. VIII.—SYMPOSIUM ON HOME RULE 374

1. THE CLAIM FOR HOME RULE, UPON GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

Interest of the Irish Question on account of social problems it raises and social laws of which it reveals the working—Advantageous to consider the question from higher grounds than local issues—Ideas implied: 1. The idea of a "People"—A people the work of nature and its individuality a natural force, which State combinations can neither make nor destroy—2. The idea of "Law;" which must not only rest on justice, but seek the "happiness" of the governed—The notion of law-making is related to that of "contract"—3. The idea of "Liberty"; its nature and limits—"All parts of a community must be subject to the whole" fallacious: how far it is true—4. The idea of "Loyalty": difference between the "duty" and the "feeling" of loyalty—What sort of loyalty may be demanded of a subject people; should be expected from Ireland by England—The teaching to be drawn from these four ideas as to Home Rule.

PAGE

2. Home Rule and its Probable Consequences . . . 394

Any concession of Home Rule at the present time must involve one or both of the countries in irremediable disaster—The Irish agitators will not be satisfied so long as England has a shadow of authority in Ireland; yet Ireland has neither money nor credit for this—This financial difficulty in the way of a confederate union—The demand for Home Rule comes from a section of the community; one part of the people of Ireland loyal to the Crown; danger of Home Rule resulting in a war of religion, of race, of agrarian ferocity—Present state of Ireland a warning against giving it self-government—Disastrous financial results.

Science Notices 404

The Sun—Hereditary Stature—The Industrial Crisis—Natural Gas as Fuel—Snow and Weather Forecasts—British Rainfall.

Notes of Travel and Exploration 407

Exploration of Kilima-Njaro—Colonel Prjevalsky's Explorations in Tibet—Chronology of the Expeditions—Engagements with the Natives—Western Saidam—New State in South Africa—Proposed Congo Railway—United States Report on the Congo State—An African Eden—Baltic Canal—Exploration of the Persian Border—Visit to Herat—Petroleum in India—The Transcaspian Railway—New Merv—Further Progress of the Railroad.

PAGE

NOTES ON NOVELS 417

At the Red Glove—The Rise of Silas Lapham—A Fair Maid—The Duke's Marriage—The Bostonians—Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde—Fiammetta: a Summer Idyll—A Family Affair—The Story of Catherine—Aunt Rachel.

NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS . . . 426

Katholik—Historisch-Politische Blätter—Stimmen aus Maria Laach—Zeitschrift für Katholische Theologie—La Civiltà Cattolica—La Controverse.

NOTICES OF BOOKS 434

Mr. Fitzpatrick's Life of Father Burke—Abbé de Broglie's Problèmes et Conclusions de l'Histoire des Religions—English Catholic Nonjurors of 1715—J. Gillow's Dictionary of English Catholics—Father Stevenson's The Truth about Wyclif—Father Meyer's Institutiones Juris Naturalis—Father Lainez's Disputationes Tridentinæ—Baron K. de Lettenhove's Les Huguenots et les Gueux—Decreta Conciliorum Westmonast.—Burckhardt's Civilization en Italie au temps de la Renaissance—A. de Foville's Le Morcellement—Father Sebastian's Manual of the Seven Dolours—Father Coleridge's The Thirty Years—R. Bagwell's Ireland under the Tudors—C. S. Devas' Studies of Family Life—Rev. W. Randolph's Minor Prophets—Pearson's Edition of Lyall's Propædia Prophetica—Orelli's Old Testament Prophecy of God's Kingdom—Immortality: a Symposium—Dr. Martineau's Types of Ethical Theory—Father Schmöger's Life of Catherine Emmerich—Manual of Catholic Politics—Palmer's Early Christian Symbolism—Bacuez's The Divine Office—Fiske's Idea of God as affected by Modern Knowledge—Treacy's Protestant Tributes to Truth of Catholicity—J. Rousseau's Hans Holbein, C. Yriarte's J. F. Millet, C. Perkins' Ghiberti, A. Genevay's Charles Le Brun—A. Maskell's Russian Art—Mgr. Dillon's War of Antichrist with the Church and Civilization.

RECORD OF ROMAN DOCUMENTS (at end).